Roatan's reef system is a lure for divers from all over the globe in search of natural adventure and pristine waters. It's the world's second largest barrier reef, the Mesoamerican Barrier Reef, and it just happens to be our back yard. In addition, Roatan's warmer water and gentle currents make for great year-round visibility.

There are approximately 35 dive sites located from West Bay in the south to Man of War Cay, and Anthony's Key is perfectly situated in the middle.
