

Private Scuba Training

Mermet Springs

Dive in First Class

Why take a private class?

Do you have a busy schedule?

Work weekends or a swing shift?

Can't find the time to learn to dive?

Does scuba diving sound fun, exciting and just what you have always wanted to do?

Then a private open water class may be for you! A private open water class allows you to customize your scuba training around your busy schedule. You may choose to take the entire class or portions with the private training option. We offer regularly scheduled training each month. We also offer training at several different pools to accommodate your needs.

With a private open water class, you get personal training and we will arrange the class around your schedule.

A private class can move at a faster, or slower, pace depending on the individual student.
